DETAILED ACTION

1. This office action, in response to the amendment filed 7/26/2002, is a final office action.

Response to Amendment

2. The objection to the specifications is withdrawn.
3. New claims have been added. The rejections of these claims are stated below.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

4. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless -

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

5. Claims 21-23 and 25-32 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Teidemann, Jr. et al (US 5,509,035).

Regarding claims 21 and 22, Teidemann discloses a method of frame timing in a cell in a wireless communication system. One station transmits primary synchronization information (column 7, lines 26-48) and secondary synchronization information (column 12, line 58 to column 13, line 12) that comprises bits of information to be used as a long code to another station. These signal are modulated by an appropriate modulation code (column 15, lines 34-40).

Regarding claim 23, the modulation sequence is selected according to the synchronization timing (column 15, lines 34-40).

Regarding claim 25, the long code is the same dependent on the time of transmission (column 13 lines 1-12).

Regarding claim 26, the communication system is a wideband cdma system (column 1, line 55 to column 2, line 20).

Regarding claims 27 and 31, Teidemann discloses a method of frame timing in a cell in a wireless communication system. One station transmits secondary synchronization information (column 12, line 58 to column 13, line 12) that comprises bits of information to be used as a long code to another station. These signal are modulated by an appropriate modulation code (column 15, lines 34-40). The secondary code can be divide by 16.

Regarding claim 28, the long code is the same dependent on the time of transmission (column 13 lines 1-12).

Regarding claims 29 and 30, the long code is different dependent on the time of transmission (column 13 lines 1-12).

Regarding claim 32, 2^{16} equals 65,536.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

6. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

7. Claim 24 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Teidemann, Jr. et al (US 5,509,035) further in view of Bruekheimer (US 5,367,544).

Regarding claim 24, Teidemann discloses the method stated above. Teidemann does not disclose the no cyclic shift of a valid modulating sequence can result in another valid modulating sequence. Bruekheimer discloses a transmitter encoder which identifies a valid code word. The code word, when symbol-wise cyclically shifted does not produce a second valid code word (column 6, lines 52-68). Figure 1 discloses the receiver which receives the transmission from the transmitter. The decoder, upon receiving a signal without a valid code word, will shift the data sequence and check validity (column 2, lines 7-65). These shifts will be repeated until a valid code word is detected. The frame synchronization will be maintained throughout the shifting. It would have been obvious for one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to incorporate Bruekheimer into the method of Teidemann to ensure only proper modulating sequences were being used. This allows the data to be received and processed quicker since errors are not present or at least discovered quicker.

Conclusion

8. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
